

PHASE III: CHATLOG REVIEW

While you were having the small group discussion in English, the other two committee members from China also did their discussion in Mandarin. They had exclusive access to information that can help you discover the most qualified candidate.

- Now you have 10min to review the other two committee members' chatlog. This chatlog has been converted from Mandarin to English with the help of machine translation. You can also update your notes while reviewing the chatlog.

The system also generate several keywords/ phrases from translated messages (see the figure below). You can use the provided keywords/phrase to help your review.

Example of Transcript Interface

- After reviewing the chatlog, you have 5min to fill out a short survey. The survey contains questions that ask about your experience of collecting information and evaluating the candidates.
